“The old account of vision says we need to know exactly where we are headed before we start the journey; this account says we need a vision of the kind of people we will be on the journey, which will in large part determine where we end up.”

- A New Day in the City: Urban Church Renewal

living into our values

When selecting your values, ask yourself the following questions:

- Does this define us?
- Is this who we are at our best?
- Is this a filter that we use to make hard decisions?
